The blooming rose represents the many women who are able to blossom because of all that the Women's Fund provides for them.

The rose vines encircling the body are the people of the Women's Fund supporting and caring for the women they help.

The raindrops stand for the time, programs, money, energy, ideas, and talents that the Women's Fund gives to feed and nourish the potential of the women of the world.

The painted swirly sky shows the exciting journey the women are able to take because of their new opportunities.

The sky is the limit.
